

On the eve of COP21 Gender Day, we invite you to discuss the importance of promoting gender equality and the full participation of women in the fight against climate change in order to contribute to sustainable development and greater climate justice.

Speakers will present field examples and share their views on gender mainstreaming in the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change and the inclusion of gender language in the draft Paris Agreement. They will also highlight the challenges and opportunities related to the integration of gender equality in climate and development public policies and to their effective implementation.

- Ouafae Sananes, Human Development Expert, French Ministry of Foreign affairs and international development
- Cecilia Conde, General Coordinator of Climate Change of Adaptation for the Mexican Ministry of Environment
- Hon. Camille Ake, Member of Parliament, Ivory Coast
- Zénabou Segda, Gender Expert, Climate and Development Network, Burkina Faso

Moderator: Fanny Petitbon (CARE France), Representative of the French Gender and Development Platform

Activities organized with the support of :

Coordination SUD
Solidarité Urgence Développement

Kindly invite you to the morning session:
«Climate change and gender inequality: turning the double injustice into an opportunity»

Monday, December 7th from 11am to 12.30pm

Climate Generations Area
Coordination SUD Booth, C24

Contact and registration : petitbon@carefrance.org

INVITATION