Gender-Just Climate Solutions

11:30 am – 1:00 pm

during

Gender Day, 8. December,

Hall 4, Room 1 (Observer room in the Blue space – United Nations)

Description:

Women and men from around the world present their good practices as well as their roles in sustainable local economies and climate solutions. The event will highlight a few key 'gender-just' solutions, giving practical technical examples of projects for climate mitigation or adaptation that take into account gender equality and sustainable development. In addition, the event will launch a new 'Gender-Just Solutions' publication, highlighting around 30 technical, non-technical and transformative solutions for climate action. Finally, speakers will discuss the principles and corresponding policies needed to ensure that solutions advance rights, equality and environmental integrity - and crucially, how this must be reflected in the new climate agreement through gender-responsive means of implementation: technologies, safe for the people and the environment, affordable and gender responsive, alongside gender-responsive capacity building and finance.

Speakers:

- "The need for gender-just solutions", presentation of the three winners of the Gender-Just Solutions Award
Presentation of the awards
- „Rural women addressing the impact of climate change with alternatives to fuelwood efficient stoves, solar dryers and rice husk briquettes“,
